
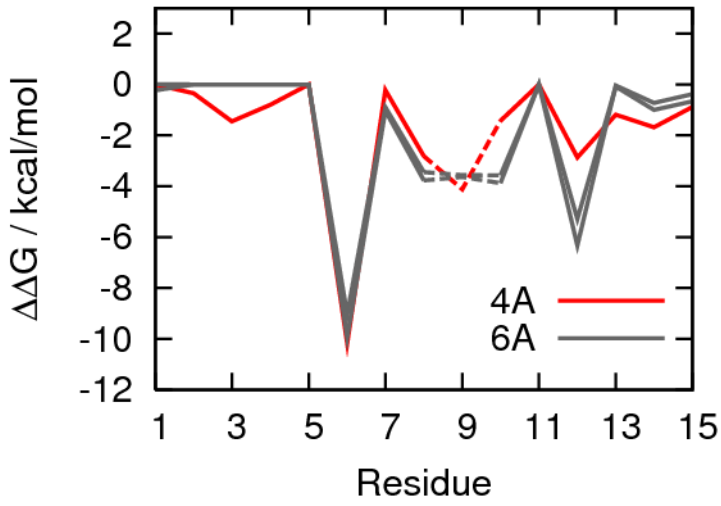

Figure S9. Two computational alanine scans of the RAD51-BRC6A interface (grey), showing the reproducibility of the residues that contribute most to binding in long simulations.